FARMERS' MEETING.

Precinct Committeemen Here
and Made Encouraging Reports.

MUCH BETTER PRICES.

Rousing Speech as to the Needs of the Hour.

The precinct committeemen of the county met at the court house yesterday. Every committeeman present made an encouraging report to the county executive committee, of which Mr. W. W. Radford is chairman. Everything is moving along in this section of the "Black Patch" in perfect and most satisfactory order.

The chairman addressed the meeting and he seemed sanguine of still greater results in store for the raiser of "the weed." He said that with a perfect and compact organization all over the tobacco district, he could see no reason why the farmer ere long should not receive $12 or $15 for his tobacco instead of the last price paid. The English market is short of the product, and so anxious are they to get more tobacco shipped to that country that, as an inducement, a reduction of five cents duty had recently been made on strips.

The importance of watching persons who buy tobacco from the members of the association, though not members themselves—pledging themselves to put the tobacco into the hands of the association—should be frowned down, and legal measures should be adopted to stop payment for such sales. This seemed to be the sentiment of all.

Hon. W. T. Fowler, by request, followed in a magnificent speech. A stenographic report may soon be given to the public. Judge Fowler spoke for over an hour and had the closest attention of his hearers. He began with the earliest formation of partnerships during the days when crops were bought by individuals. Afterwards partnerships were formed to buy up by counties; then corporations were formed for the purchase of farm crops by states, and the corporations have grown into trusts that control the prices in every state of the Union. He denounced the adage that "competition is the life of trade" as a fallacy. The competition is all on one side—among the producers. The other side—the corporations and trusts—are agreed on everything—they make no mistakes, everything works in perfect order, and thus they are grinding the life out of the farmers.

There is no law against the men who compose the trusts and corporations. You can see the corporations but the men behind them cannot be reached.

There will never be any relief until a criminal statute is enacted that will reach such robbers, and it is the duty of every farmer to send men to the legislature who will enact such a law.

The Judge has given a great deal of thought to the subject and his speech ought to be published in full and scattered broadcast over the country, where tobacco raisers, and everyone else, can read it.

VAGRANTS

Receive a Touch of the Law in Regard to Idlers.

The number of arrests made by the police since last Thursday, not counting the four negroes on the Reeves farm, is 11. The officers have made a new departure, which, if persisted in, will do a great thing in ridding the city of a small army of people whose manner of subsistence is a problem. Among the list of 11 arrested were five vagrants. There were two arrests for fornication, two for drunkenness and two for disorderly conduct.

BURIED BY BROTHER ELKS.

Last Honors Paid to Hilliard
M. Dalton By His Brethren.

TOUCHING CEREMONIES.

Services Held at the Baptist Church Sunday Afternoon.

The funeral services over the body of the late Hilliard M. Dalton were held Sunday.

The Elks' lodge and the active and honorary pall bearers escorted the body to the Baptist church. The active pall bearers were Messrs. E. B. Long, Jouett Henry, J. D. Russell, W. H. Cummings, Jr., Hiram P. Thomas, James Russell, A. H. Anderson and C. S. Jarrett. The honorary pall bearers were as follows: E. B. Bassett, J. H. Anderson, J. T. Wall, J. E. McPherson, W. T. Tandy, James West, M. C. Forbes, J. T. Hanbery, F. W. Dabney, Marlow Johnson, J. B. Russell, John W. Breathitt and C. M. Meacham.

The trip to the church began in a downpour of rain, but the weather became less inclement by the time the exercises at the church were over. The church was filled until there was hardly standing room. Even the Sunday school galleries were occupied, one of them by colored friends of the dead man. Rev. G. C. Abbott read a chapter and Rev. H. D. Smith made a very feeling and appropriate prayer. Miss Rowena Wall sang a solo and after remarks by the pastor, Dr. C. H. Nash, the body was borne by loving hands to the grave in Hope-well Cemetery. The funeral procession was the largest seen here for many years, the vehicles alone reaching from the Church at Fourteenth street to the city building at Fifth street.

At the grave was conducted the beautiful and impressive ceremony of the Elks, the noble order so loved by the deceased and whose members cared for him so tenderly when the terrible accident occurred that cut short his useful career. Exalted Ruler T. J. Tate presided and as the Elks gathered about the open grave to pay the last sad rites, many strong men among them wept like children.

There is a feeling of universal sorrow in the city that so useful and promising a citizen has passed away.

LARGE METEOR

Lit Up the Heavens Last Sunday Night.

Mr. White who lives in the vicinity of The Square, on the I. C. road, was in the city yesterday and was telling a bunch of listeners of a great meteor he saw Sunday night. He was aroused from his slumbers by the continued barking of his dogs, and thinking something must have been wrong went to the door to see "what was up." The first thing he noticed was the intense brightness of the heavens. Going outside to see what was the cause, he saw an immense meteor, about the size of a wash-tub, falling to the earth. After seeing the meteor fall to the earth Mr. White went back to bed. His curiosity was not great enough to prompt him to search for heavenly visitors when daylight came, though its stopping place was not very distant from his home.

Mrs. Haly Dead.

Mrs. Jane Haly, mother of Gen. Percy Haly, died Sunday morning in Frankfort. She had been an invalid for many years, and was one of the best-known women in Frankfort.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Carter, of Herndon, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Fannie Belle, to Dr. E. L. Gates, of the same place, the wedding to take place May 16, at 2:30 p. m., in the M. E. church at Herndon.

Held Thursday Night.

The third annual banquet will be held next Thursday night at Hotel Latham, a day earlier than first announced. The new President, W. T. Fowler, will be the toastmaster and the program will be made up of the following speeches:

"The Man in the Moon," F. L. Wilkinson.

"The Bird of Time," Rev. Geo. C. Abbott.

"Kentucky Colonels," Col. Jouett Henry.

"Kinks," Prof. Barksdale Ham-lett.

"One and Won," John C. Duffy.

"Lot's Wife," C. M. Meacham.

Covers will be laid for eighty to one hundred people.

HOT ELECTION

At Fairview Saturday On Graded School Question.

Fairview had one of the most lively elections in its history last Saturday. The question voted on was a proposition to establish a graded school. The advocates of the school question and the opponents worked like beavers for several weeks before the day of election and when the time rolled around marshalled their forces for final action.

After the "smoke of battle" had cleared away and the ballots were counted it was found that the advocates of the school had won by a majority of only three. We learn that the opposition will still oppose the adoption of the system and contest the election.

FEDERAL COURT.

Christian County Represented on Both Juries.

Federal court convened at Owensboro yesterday. There is a heavy civil docket to be disposed of, but the criminal docket is lighter than usual. John Wood, of near Gracey, is one of the grand jurors and John P. Prowse, of this city, is on the petit jury. Messrs. Wood and Prowse went to Owensboro Sunday.

Home Wedding.

We dislike to give away the secrets of Cupid, but as the little birds are whispering it and the zephyrs are tipping the secret from one to another, what's the harm of our letting it be known that at the home of Mr. Walter Kelly, on next Tuesday night, Miss Annie Todd Kelly and Mr. Nick Gaither will be united in matrimony? This will not be much of a surprise to the friends of the popular couple, but the consummation of an attachment of long duration. In advance of the happy event everybody will join us in the wish for a full realization of the fondest dreams of the devoted couple.
